Selected Resources for the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS)

The United States has a new industry classification system. The North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) now replaces the U.S. Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) system. All EPA programs and EPA information systems that collect SIC codes are required to transition to NAICS. This brochure is a collection of references to assist programs and systems in making the conversion.

NAICS was developed by the U.S., Canada, and Mexico to provide comparable statistics across the three countries. NAICS also provides for increased comparability with the International Standard Industrial Classification System (ISIC, Revision 3) developed and maintained by the United Nations.

The U.S. EPA has adopted NAICS for the purpose of (1) collection, tabulation, presentation, and analysis of data relating to economic activity at establishments, and (2) promotion of uniformity and comparability in the presentation of statistical data describing the economy.
